FOR THE MEMBERS / FROM THE MEMBERS

Jim Long tells us that the 11 games can (first issue) of the Clemson orange can were all sold out and discontinued immediately when Clemson beat Nebraska in the Orange Bowl. There has been a new #1 Clemson can released, this can (second issue) shows 12 winning games. Yeah Clemson-National Champs !!!

These following "Pearls of Wisdom" are from Bob Luciano:

I enjoy reading about the dumping stories of the members and how they find dozens of old cans worth hundreds of dollars. But there are some of us who have trouble finding these cans. I, myself, am still in search of a nice cone top to display on my shelves. I anxiously look forward for the next two years to roll by, for then I will be able to drive and reach far away dumps. During the summer months I have to pedal my bicycle around Stamford (Connecticut) looking for those older cans, which some people refer to as junk. I spent a great deal of my time last year in search of dumps, needless to say my leg muscles grew strong as on some of my trips the total journey was over 40 miles. Last year though I came across half a dozen old Pepsi tab tops with the bottle cap and diagonal stripes, my pride and joy was to find a sparkling grade 1- Penquin cream soda flat top, the only flat top I found last year. So for collectors out there who do not find flat tops or cone taps by the dozens, don't worry---your time will come.

E J Ritter writes us that his root beer collection now totals 493 different, including regular sugar free and generics.

Dennis Fewless tells us that there is a new line of Grafs cans now being introduced to the market. He also advises of new labels on Hawaii cans, the Diamond Head can has been changed. The Old Time brand has also been changed slightly.

Carr Suter writes " I now have 1947 colas, representing 429 brands. Can anyone top that ? "
